

EXPERIENCING THE DARKNESS

The Oral History Panel
from the 1994

Tulane University conference:
MY LAI 25 YEARS AFTER

FEATURING

HUGH THOMPSON

the helicopter pilot
who tried to stop the massacre

RON RIDENHOUR

the soldier who prevented the cover-up

WILLIAM ECKHARDT

the chief prosecutor of the My Lai cases

MODERATED BY KEVIN SIM,

Co-Author of Four Hours in My Lai

Approx. 90 minutes

"To remember My Lai, to come to terms with its meaning in ethical terms, is the profound task to which this tape addresses itself. Each member of the panel, speaking with evident emotion, recalls his own participation in the event and struggles to explain and understand it. For those of us who teach, the tape is an invaluable aid as we work to enable students to deal with the central issues raised by the actions of Charlie Company in Vietnam so many years ago."

Marilyn B. Young, Historian, NYU;

author of The Vietnam Wars: 1945-90.

"We generally don't think of heroes when we think of the sordid episode that has come to be known as the My Lai massacre, the darkest day of a very dark chapter in American history, but heroes there were both during and after the fact. You will meet three of them on this tape. You are not likely to forget them."

W.D. Ehrhart, veteran, poet;

author of Vietnam-Perkaise, etc.

This tape is an essential tool for courses addressing the Vietnam War era in American history. Its use of eyewitnesses is effective because their testimony, which students find both accessible and moving, informs rather than preaches and builds to a consensus on the meaning and lessons of My Lai for American society.

Marc J. Gilbert, Historian, N. Georgia College; editor of The Vietnam War: Teaching Approaches and Resources

Individual use $25

Institutional or classroom use $100
(plus $5 for handling and shipping).

Mail orders to Fertel Communications,
6120 Perrier St., New Orleans LA 70118.

VISA/MC accepted. Make checks payable to:
"Fertel Communications/My Lai Documentary."

For information or to order, call 1-504-891-1759
(voice/fax) or email: RFertel@aol.com.

For partial transcripts or for order form, visit:
<http://www.ttu.edu/~vietnam/mylai.htm>.

Conference funded in part by:

Social Education Annual Index

Volume 61, 1997

January, Pages 1-57

February, Pages 58-123

March, Pages 124-189

April/May, Pages 190-237

September, Pages 238-302

October, Pages 303-367

November/December, Pages 368-442

Index by Title

A Decade to Eradicate Poverty: United Nations Development Programme, 316

Any History Is Someone's History: Listening to Multiple Voices from the Past, Linda S. Levstik, 48

Appeasing the Right, Missing the Point? Reading the New York State Social Studies Framework, S. G. Grant, 102

Arts Alive in the Development of Historical Thinking, Jeanette L. Groth and Maria Albert, 42

Bill of Rights, Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996, 404

Bloomers, Bell Bottoms, and Hula Hoops: Artifact Collections Aid Children's Historical Interpretation, M. Gail Hickey, 293

Can More Be Less? The Depth-Breadth Dilemma in Teaching American History, Bruce A. VanSledright, 38

1996 Carter G. Woodson Book Awards, 216

Citizenship, Diversity, and Distance Learning: Video-conferencing in Connecticut, Edward C. Sembor, 154

Citizenship Education and the World Wide Web, C. Frederick Risinger, 223

Developing Democratic Citizens for Emerging Democracies in Africa, Nelly Ukpokodu, 93

"Doing" Social Studies: A Framework for the Historical and Cultural Analysis of Electricity, John S. Gambio and Barbara S. Ingold, pullout section, February

The Dreary Life of the Cowboy: Memoir and Myth in Cowboy Ballads, E. Martin Pedersen, 130

An Economic Perspective on Protecting the Environment, Mark C. Schug and Richard D. Western, 329

Economic Standards: A Guide for Curriculum Planners, Bonnie Meszaros, 324

The Economics of Saving Endangered Species: A Teaching Activity, Mark C. Schug and Jane S. Shaw, 334

Education is About Producing, Not Consuming, Michael Hartoonian, 365

Empowering Immigrant Students through Democratic Dialogues, Michael Pezone and Alan Singer, 75

Experiences in a Juvenile Justice System, Joan P. Kelly, 268

The Failure of Language Policy in Tanzanian Schools, Deo Nkonyani, 412

First-Hand Study: Teaching History for Understanding, Stephen J. Thornton, 11

Flashback: Comparing Two Approaches to Teaching World History, Joseph Khazzaka, 210

Fort Hancock: A Bastion of America's Eastern Seaboard, George West, 177

Fostering Civic Virtue: Character Education in the Social Studies, NCSS Task Force on Character Education in the Social Studies, 225

From Fiction to Field Notes: Observing the Culture in Things Fall Apart, Joan Brodsky Schur, 380

Geography and Mathematics: Issues in Southern Africa, S. E. Mphahuli and Kakoma Luneta, 406

Getting a Grip on Geography, Kristin M. Roberts, 80

Glidden's Patent Application for Barbed Wire, Emily Ray and Wynell Schamel, 53

Gun Control: The Debate and Public Policy, Christine

Watkins, 250

History-It Can Be Elementary: An Overview of Elementary Students' Understanding of History, Keith C. Barton, 13

History Making and the Plains Indians, Jennifer Truran Rothwell, 4

Hollywood and the Rebel Image in the 1950s, Ron Briley, 352

The Homestead Act of 1862, Lee Ann Potter and Wynell Schamel, 359

"How Can I Study?" United Nations Children's Fund, 64

How Children Explain the "Why" of History: The Chata Research Project on Teaching History, Rosalyn Ashby, Peter Lee, and Alaric Dickinson, 17

How the Internet Works: Around the World in 80 Seconds, Gene Cowan, special pullout, March

The Debate over Immigration Has a Human Face: A Literary Approach, Dennis Banks, 197

Internet Q&A, special pullout, March

The Internet Ten: Using the Internet to Meet Social Studies Curriculum Standards, Clark Johnson and Jack Rector, 167

Jackie Robinson, President Eisenhower, and the Little Rock Crisis, 218

Korean Education: Focusing on the Future, Richard Diem, Tedd Levy, and Ronald VanSickle, 83

Liberia: America's Closest African Ally, Samuel Thompson and Barry Mowell, 390

Life Stories in Children's Books, Jeanne McLain Harms and Lucille J. Lettow, 205

Linking Violence Prevention and Good Social Studies: Research and Development, Carolyn Pereira and Ken Rodriguez, 282

Little Windows to the Past, Amy Thompson Leigh and Tina Ossege Reynolds, 45

Making Time for Women's History...When Your Survey Course Is Already Filled to Overflowing, Margaret Smith Crocco, 32

Mapping the Terrain of Historical Significance, Peter Seixas, 22

Media Literacy and Violence, pullout section, Sept.

Native American Governments in Today's Curriculum, David E. Sahr, 308

1997 Notable Children's Trade Books in the Field of Social Studies, NCSS-Children's Book Council Joint Committee, pullout section, April/May

Now Is Your Time! A Middle School History Unit, Elizabeth Anne Yeager, Frans H. Doppen, and David Middleton, 207

Overpopulation: Where Malthus Went Wrong, John Morton, Jane S. Shaw, and Richard L. Stroup, 342

An Overview of Sub-Saharan Africa Today, Diane L. Brook, 374

Past, Possibilities, and Potholes on the Information Superhighway, Joseph A. Braun, Jr., 149

Postcards Across America, Tedd Levy, 290

Resources for Teaching about Sub-Saharan Africa, Samuel Hinton, Barry Mowell, and Diane L. Brook, 423

Robert E. Lee's Resignation from the U.S. Army, Jean M. West and Wynell Schamel, 108

Search and Seizure: The Meaning of the Fourth Amendment Today, Lee Arbetman and Michelle Perry, 273

Sociocultural Approaches to Young People's Historical Understanding, Terrie L. Epstein, 28

South Africa after Apartheid: Recent Developments and Future Prospects, Diane L. Brook, 395

Sub-Saharan Africa At A Glance, 419

Supreme Court Trends, L. Anita Richardson, 436

Teaching United States History Thematically, Mary E. Connor, 203

EXPERIENCING THE DARKNESS

The Oral History Panel
from the 1994

Tulane University conference:
MY LAI 25 YEARS AFTER

FEATURING

HUGH THOMPSON

the helicopter pilot
who tried to stop the massacre

RON RIDENHOUR

the soldier who prevented the cover-up

WILLIAM ECKHARDT

the chief prosecutor of the My Lai cases

MODERATED BY KEVIN SIM,

Co-Author of Four Hours in My Lai

Approx. 90 minutes

"To remember My Lai, to come to terms with its meaning in ethical terms, is the profound task to which this tape addresses itself. Each member of the panel, speaking with evident emotion, recalls his own participation in the event and struggles to explain and understand it. For those of us who teach, the tape is an invaluable aid as we work to enable students to deal with the central issues raised by the actions of Charlie Company in Vietnam so many years ago."

Marilyn B. Young, Historian, NYU;

author of The Vietnam Wars: 1945-90.

"We generally don't think of heroes when we think of the sordid episode that has come to be known as the My Lai massacre, the darkest day of a very dark chapter in American history, but heroes there were both during and after the fact. You will meet three of them on this tape. You are not likely to forget them."

W.D. Ehrhart, veteran, poet;

author of Vietnam-Perkaise, etc.

This tape is an essential tool for courses addressing the Vietnam War era in American history. Its use of eyewitnesses is effective because their testimony, which students find both accessible and moving, informs rather than preaches and builds to a consensus on the meaning and lessons of My Lai for American society.

Marc J. Gilbert, Historian, N. Georgia College; editor of The Vietnam War: Teaching Approaches and Resources

Individual use $25

Institutional or classroom use $100
(plus $5 for handling and shipping).

Mail orders to Fertel Communications,
6120 Perrier St., New Orleans LA 70118.

VISA/MC accepted. Make checks payable to:
"Fertel Communications/My Lai Documentary."

For information or to order, call 1-504-891-1759
(voice/fax) or email: RFertel@aol.com.

For partial transcripts or for order form, visit:
<http://www.ttu.edu/~vietnam/mylai.htm>.

Conference funded in part by:

Social Education Annual Index

Volume 61, 1997

January, Pages 1-57

February, Pages 58-123

March, Pages 124-189

April/May, Pages 190-237

September, Pages 238-302

October, Pages 303-367

November/December, Pages 368-442

Index by Title

A Decade to Eradicate Poverty: United Nations Development Programme, 316

Any History Is Someone's History: Listening to Multiple Voices from the Past, Linda S. Levstik, 48

Appeasing the Right, Missing the Point? Reading the New York State Social Studies Framework, S. G. Grant, 102

Arts Alive in the Development of Historical Thinking, Jeanette L. Groth and Maria Albert, 42

Bill of Rights, Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996, 404

Bloomers, Bell Bottoms, and Hula Hoops: Artifact Collections Aid Children's Historical Interpretation, M. Gail Hickey, 293

Can More Be Less? The Depth-Breadth Dilemma in Teaching American History, Bruce A. VanSledright, 38

1996 Carter G. Woodson Book Awards, 216

Citizenship, Diversity, and Distance Learning: Video-conferencing in Connecticut, Edward C. Sembor, 154

Citizenship Education and the World Wide Web, C. Frederick Risinger, 223

Developing Democratic Citizens for Emerging Democracies in Africa, Nelly Ukpokodu, 93

"Doing" Social Studies: A Framework for the Historical and Cultural Analysis of Electricity, John S. Gambio and Barbara S. Ingold, pullout section, February

The Dreary Life of the Cowboy: Memoir and Myth in Cowboy Ballads, E. Martin Pedersen, 130

An Economic Perspective on Protecting the Environment, Mark C. Schug and Richard D. Western, 329

Economic Standards: A Guide for Curriculum Planners, Bonnie Meszaros, 324

The Economics of Saving Endangered Species: A Teaching Activity, Mark C. Schug and Jane S. Shaw, 334

Education is About Producing, Not Consuming, Michael Hartoonian, 365

Empowering Immigrant Students through Democratic Dialogues, Michael Pezone and Alan Singer, 75

Experiences in a Juvenile Justice System, Joan P. Kelly, 268

The Failure of Language Policy in Tanzanian Schools, Deo Ngonyani, 412

First-Hand Study: Teaching History for Understanding, Stephen J. Thornton, 11

Flashback: Comparing Two Approaches to Teaching World History, Joseph Khazzaka, 210

Fort Hancock: A Bastion of America's Eastern Seaboard, George West, 177

Fostering Civic Virtue: Character Education in the Social Studies, NCSS Task Force on Character Education in the Social Studies, 225

From Fiction to Field Notes: Observing the Culture in Things Fall Apart, Joan Brodsky Schur, 380

Geography and Mathematics: Issues in Southern Africa, S. E. Mphahuli and Kakoma Luneta, 406

Getting a Grip on Geography, Kristin M. Roberts, 80

Glidden's Patent Application for Barbed Wire, Emily Ray and Wynell Schamel, 53

Gun Control: The Debate and Public Policy, Christine

Watkins, 250

History-It Can Be Elementary: An Overview of Elementary Students' Understanding of History, Keith C. Barton, 13

History Making and the Plains Indians, Jennifer Truran Rothwell, 4

Hollywood and the Rebel Image in the 1950s, Ron Briley, 352

The Homestead Act of 1862, Lee Ann Potter and Wynell Schamel, 359

"How Can I Study?" United Nations Children's Fund, 64

How Children Explain the "Why" of History: The Chata Research Project on Teaching History, Rosalyn Ashby, Peter Lee, and Alaric Dickinson, 17

How the Internet Works: Around the World in 80 Seconds, Gene Cowan, special pullout, March

The Debate over Immigration Has a Human Face: A Literary Approach, Dennis Banks, 197

Internet Q&A, special pullout, March

The Internet Ten: Using the Internet to Meet Social Studies Curriculum Standards, Clark Johnson and Jack Rector, 167

Jackie Robinson, President Eisenhower, and the Little Rock Crisis, 218

Korean Education: Focusing on the Future, Richard Diem, Tedd Levy, and Ronald VanSickle, 83

Liberia: America's Closest African Ally, Samuel Thompson and Barry Mowell, 390

Life Stories in Children's Books, Jeanne McLain Harms and Lucille J. Lettow, 205

Linking Violence Prevention and Good Social Studies: Research and Development, Carolyn Pereira and Ken Rodriguez, 282

Little Windows to the Past, Amy Thompson Leigh and Tina Ossege Reynolds, 45

Making Time for Women's History...When Your Survey Course Is Already Filled to Overflowing, Margaret Smith Crocco, 32

Mapping the Terrain of Historical Significance, Peter Seixas, 22

Media Literacy and Violence, pullout section, Sept.

Native American Governments in Today's Curriculum, David E. Sahr, 308

1997 Notable Children's Trade Books in the Field of Social Studies, NCSS-Children's Book Council Joint Committee, pullout section, April/May

Now Is Your Time! A Middle School History Unit, Elizabeth Anne Yeager, Frans H. Doppen, and David Middleton, 207

Overpopulation: Where Malthus Went Wrong, John Morton, Jane S. Shaw, and Richard L. Stroup, 342

An Overview of Sub-Saharan Africa Today, Diane L. Brook, 374

Past, Possibilities, and Potholes on the Information Superhighway, Joseph A. Braun, Jr., 149

Postcards Across America, Tedd Levy, 290

Resources for Teaching about Sub-Saharan Africa, Samuel Hinton, Barry Mowell, and Diane L. Brook, 423

Robert E. Lee's Resignation from the U.S. Army, Jean M. West and Wynell Schamel, 108

Search and Seizure: The Meaning of the Fourth Amendment Today, Lee Arbetman and Michelle Perry, 273

Sociocultural Approaches to Young People's Historical Understanding, Terrie L. Epstein, 28

South Africa after Apartheid: Recent Developments and Future Prospects, Diane L. Brook, 395

Sub-Saharan Africa At A Glance, 419

Supreme Court Trends, L. Anita Richardson, 436

Teaching United States History Thematically, Mary E. Connor, 203

Teaching World War I from Multiple Perspectives. Stuart J. Foster and Richard Rosch, 429

Technology and Social Studies: An Introduction. Charles S. White, 147

Trade Books for Reducing Violence. Ronald A. Banaszak and Mary K. Banaszak, 270

Traditional Rule-Making and the Subversion of Citizenship Education. David Schimmel, 70

A Trip to Historic Philadelphia on the Web. Elizabeth K. Wilson, 170

Transforming Education in Hungary. Cathy Kaufman, 89

TV Violence: A Medium's Effects Under Scrutiny. Mary A. Hepburn, 244

Using Technology for Powerful Social Studies Learning. Stephen A. Rose and Phyllis M. Fernlund, 160

Using the Geographic Perspective to Enrich History. Sarah Bednarz, 139

Using the Stock Market Game in the Social Studies Classroom. Allen C. Cox, 347

Violence Prevention and Service Learning. Diana Hess, 279

Violence Redux: A Brief Legal and Historical Perspective on Youth Violence. Marshall Croddy, 258

Water, Water Everywhere, But Can We Drink It? Solving the Blue Planet's Water Problems of Overuse and Abuse. Terry Anderson and Donald R. Wentworth, 337

What Is Justice for Juveniles? Jennifer Truran Rothwell, 265

Where on the Web? A Listing of Websites. Charles S. White, special pullout, March

Who Worries About the Future of Chickens as a Species? Environmental Education from an Economics Perspective. Donald R. Wentworth, Mark C. Schug and John S. Morton, 331

Why Do Social Studies Teachers Use Textbooks? The Answer May Lie in Economic Theory. Mark C. Schug, Richard D. Western, and Larry G. Enochs, 97

"Women at Work:" Incorporating Gender into a Geography Lesson. Bárbara C. Cruz and Carolyn V. Prorok, 385

Index by Author

Albert, Maria, with Jeanette L. Groth. Arts Alive in the Development of Historical Thinking, 42

Anderson, Terry, with Donald R. Wentworth. Water, Water Everywhere, But Can We Drink It? Solving the Blue Planet's Water Problems of Overuse and Abuse, 337

Arbetsman, Lee with Michelle Perry. Search and Seizure: The Meaning of the Fourth Amendment Today, 273

Ashby, Rosalyn, Peter Lee, with Alaric Dickinson. How Children Explain the "Why" of History: The Chata Research Project on Teaching History, 17

Banaszak, Mary K. with Ronald A. Banaszak. Trade Books for Reducing Violence, 270

Banaszak, Ronald A. with Mary K. Banaszak. Trade Books for Reducing Violence, 270

Banks, Dennis. The Debate Over Immigration Has a Human Face: A Literary Approach, 197

Barton, Keith C. History—It Can Be Elementary: An Overview of Elementary Students' Understanding History, 13

Bednarz, Sarah. Using the Geographic Perspective to Enrich History, 139

Braun, Jr., Joseph A. Past, Possibilities, and Potholes along the Information Superhighway, 149

Briley, Ron. Hollywood and the Rebel Image in the 1950s, 352

Brook, Diane L. An Overview of Sub-Saharan Africa Today, 374

—, with Barry Mowell and Samuel Hinton. Resources for Teaching about Sub-Saharan Africa, 423

—, South Africa After Apartheid: Recent Events and Future Prospects, 395

Connor, Mary. Teaching United States History Thematically, 203

Cowan, Gene. How the Internet Works: Around the World in 80 Seconds, special pullout, March

Cox, Allen C. Using the Stock Market in the Social Studies Classroom, 347

Crocco, Margaret Smith. Making Time for Women's History...When Your Survey Course is Already Filled to Overflowing, 32

Croddy, Marshall. Violence Redux: A Brief Legal and Historical Perspective on Youth Violence, 258

Cruz, Bárbara C. with Carolyn V. Prorok. "Women at Work:" Incorporating Gender in a Geography Lesson, 385

Dickinson, Alaric, with Rosalyn Ashby and Peter Lee. How Children Explain the "Why" of History: The Chata Research Project on Teaching History, 17

Diem, Richard, with Tedd Levy and Ronald Vansickle. Korean Education: Focusing on the Future, 83

Doppen, Frans H., with Elizabeth Anne Yeager and David Middleton. Now Is Your Time! A Middle School History Unit, 207

Epstein, Terrie L. Sociocultural Approaches to Young People's Historical Understanding, 28

Fernlund, Phyllis M., with Stephen A. Rose. Using Technology for Powerful Social Studies Learning, 160

Foster, Stuart J. with Richard Rosch. Teaching World War I from Multiple Perspectives, 429

Gambro, John S. with Barbara S. Ingold. "Doing" Social Studies: A Framework for the Historical and Cultural Analysis of Electricity, pullout section, February

Grant, S. G. Appeasing the Right, Missing the Point? Reading the New York State Social Studies Framework, 102

Groth, Jeanette L. with Maria Albert. Arts Alive in the Development of Historical Thinking, 42

Harms, Jeanne McLain with Lucille J. Lettow. Life Stories in Children's Books, 205

Hartoonian, Michael. Education is About Producing, not Consuming, 365

Hepburn, Mary A. TV Violence: A Medium's Effects Under Scrutiny, 244

Hess, Diana. Violence Prevention and Service Learning, 279

Hickey, M. Gail. Bloomers, Bell Bottoms, and Hula Hoops: Artifact Collections Aid Children's Historical Interpretation, 293

Hinton, Samuel, with Barry Mowell and Diane L. Brook. Resources for Teaching about Sub-Saharan Africa, 423

Ingold, Barbara S., with John S. Gambro. "Doing" Social Studies: A Framework for the Historical and Cultural Analysis of Electricity, pullout section, February

Johnson, Clark with Jack Rector. The Internet Ten: Using the Internet to Meet Social Studies Curriculum Standards, 167

Kaufman, Cathy. Transforming Education in Hungary, 89

Kelly, Joan P. Experiences in a Juvenile Justice System, 268

Khazzaka, Joseph. Flashback: Comparing Two Approaches to Teaching World History, 210

Lee, Peter, with Rosalyn Ashby and Alaric Dickinson. How Children Explain the "Why" of History: The Chata Research Project on Teaching History, 17

Leigh, Amy Thompson with Tina Ossege Reynolds. Little Windows to the Past, 45

Lettow, Lucille J., with Jeanne McLain Harms. Life Stories in Children's Books, 205

Disney Educational Productions Presents

Johnny Tremain

Newly remastered classic—Fully licensed for classroom use!

As seen through a young boy's eyes, the events and emotions leading up to the American Revolution have a powerful immediacy that will engage young viewers. Johnny Tremain's human perspective allows students to see, hear, and feel history as they:

- ★ Meet key historical figures, including Paul Revere, Samuel Adams and other Bostonians.
- ★ Witness the drama and revolutionary spirit of the Boston Tea Party.
- ★ Feel the turbulence following the "Shot heard 'round the world."
- ★ Join Paul Revere on his dramatic midnight ride.

Full-Length Version

Now Closed-Captioned

Product #68C8SVL00

Only $99

For more information, contact your Disney Educational Representative at

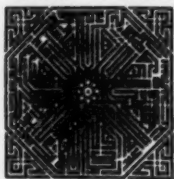

(800) 295-5010

Disney

Educational Productions
105 Terry Drive, Suite 120
Newtown, PA 18940

© Disney

Summer Workshop on Middle Eastern Cultures

For Secondary School
Teachers of Social Studies

June 15 - 26, 1998
The Ohio State University

Despite the prominent role which the Middle East plays in our daily news, the peoples and cultures of this dynamically changing region remain largely unknown to most Americans.

The goal of this workshop is to introduce students to the cultures of the Arab world, Iran, Israel, and Turkey, exploring their distinctive features as well as the sociopolitical and economic significance of the Middle East as a region to American society. Teachers will be trained to develop techniques for integrating modules on the Middle East into existing school curricula.

This is an opportunity to enhance professional credentials and to earn six quarter graduate credit hours. Financial aid in the form of tuition and fee waivers may be available to qualified applicants. For additional information and an application form, contact:

Stafford Noble, Workshop Coordinator
203 Botany & Zoology Building
1735 Neil Avenue
Columbus, Ohio 43210

Phone: (614) 292-9255
Fax: (614) 292-1262
E-mail: noble.3@osu.edu

Deadline for applications: April 1, 1998.

Sponsored by the Middle East Studies
Center, The Ohio State University

- Levstik, Linda S. Any History Is Someone's History: Listening to Multiple Voices from the Past, 48
- Levy, Tedd. Postcards Across America, 290
- , with Richard Diem and Ronald VanSickle. Korean Education: Focusing on the Future, 83
- Luneta, Kakoma, with S. E. Mphaphuli. Geography and Mathematics: Issues in Southern Africa, 406
- Meszaros, Bonnie. Economic Standards: A Guide for Curriculum Planners, 324
- Middleton, David, with Elizabeth Anne Yeager and Frans H. Doppen. Now Is Your Time!: A Middle School History Unit, 207
- Morton, John S., with Jane S. Shaw and Richard L. Stroup. Overpopulation: Where Malthus Went Wrong, 342
- , with Donald R. Wentworth and Mark C. Schug. Who Worries About the Future of Chickens as a Species? Environmental Education from an Economics Perspective, 331
- Mowell, Barry, with Samuel Hinton and Diane L. Brook. Resources for Teaching about Sub-Saharan Africa, 423
- , with Samuel Thompson. Liberia: America's Closest African Ally, 390
- Mphaphuli, S. E., with Kakoma Luneta. Geography and Mathematics: Issues in Southern Africa, 406
- NCSS-Children's Book Council Joint Committee, 1997 Notable Children's Trade Books in the Field of Social Studies, pullout section, April/May
- NCSS Task Force on Character Education in the Social Studies, Fostering Civic Virtue: Character Education in the Social Studies, 225
- Nkonyani, Deo. The Failure of Language Policy in Tanzanian Schools, 412
- Pedersen, E. Martin. The Dreary Life of the Cowboy: Memoir and Myth in Cowboy Ballads, 130
- Pereira, Carolyn with Ken Rodriguez. Linking Violence Prevention and Good Social Studies: Research and Development, 282
- Perry, Michelle, with Lee Arbetman. Search and Seizure: The Meaning of the Fourth Amendment Today, 273
- Pezzone, Michael with Alan Singer. Empowering Immigrant Students through Democratic Dialogues, 75
- Potter, Lee Ann, with Wynell Schamel. The Homestead Act of 1862, 359
- Prorok, Carolyn V., with Bárbara C. Cruz. "Women at Work": Incorporating Gender in a Geography Lesson, 385
- Ray, Emily, with Wynell Schamel. Glidden's Patent Application for Barbed Wire, 52
- Rector, Jack, with Clark Johnson. The Internet Ten: Using the Internet to Meet Social Studies Curriculum Standards, 167
- Reynolds, Tina Ossege, with Amy Thompson Leigh. Little Windows to the Past, 45
- Richardson, L. Anita. Supreme Court Trends, 436
- Risinger, C. Frederick. Citizenship Education and the World Wide Web, 223
- Roberts, Kristin M. Getting a Grip on Geography, 80
- Rodriguez, Ken, with Carolyn Pereira. Linking Violence Prevention and Good Social Studies: Research and Development, 282
- Rosch, Richard, with Stuart J. Foster. Teaching World War I from Multiple Perspectives, 429
- Rose, Stephen A. with Phyllis M. Fernlund. Using Technology for Powerful Social Studies Learning, 160
- Rothwell, Jennifer Truran. History Making and the Plains Indians, 4
- , What Is Justice for Juveniles? 265
- Sahr, David E. Native American Governments in Today's Curriculum, 308
- Schamel, Wynell, with Lee Ann Potter. The Homestead Act of 1862, 359.
- , with Jean M. West. Robert E. Lee's Resignation from the U. S. Army, 108
- Schimmel, David. Traditional Rule-Making and the Subversion of Citizenship Education, 70
- Schug, Mark C., with Jane S. Shaw. The Economics of Saving Endangered Species: A Teaching Activity, 334
- , with Richard D. Western and Larry G. Enochs. Why Do Social Studies Teachers Use Textbooks? The Answer May Lie in Economic Theory, 97
- , with Richard D. Western. An Economic Perspective on Protecting the Environment, 329
- , with Donald R. Wentworth, and John S. Morton. Who Worries About the Future of Chickens as a Species? Environmental Education from an Economics Perspective, 331
- Schur, Joan Brodsky. From Fiction to Field Notes: Observing Ibo Culture in Things Fall Apart, 380
- Sembor, Edward C. Citizenship, Diversity, and Distance Learning: Videoconferencing in Connecticut, 154
- Seixas, Peter. Mapping the Terrain of Historical Significance, 22
- Shaw, Jane S., with John S. Morton and Richard L. Stroup. Overpopulation: Where Malthus Went Wrong, 342
- , with Mark C. Schug. The Economics of Saving Endangered Species: A Teaching Activity, 334
- Singer, Alan, with Michael Pezone. Empowering Immigrant Students through Democratic Dialogues, 75
- Stroup, Richard L., with John S. Morton and Jane S. Shaw. Overpopulation: Where Malthus Went Wrong, 342
- Thompson, Samuel, with Barry Mowell. Liberia: America's Closest African Ally, 390
- Thornton, Stephen J. First-Hand Study: Teaching History for Understanding, 11
- Ukpokodu, Nelly. Developing Democratic Citizens for Emerging Democracies in Africa, 93
- United Nations Children's Fund. "How Can I Study?" 64
- United Nations Development Programme. A Decade to Eradicate Poverty, 316
- VanSickle, Ronald, with Richard Diem and Tedd Levy. Korean Education: Focusing on the Future, 83
- VanSledright, Bruce A. Can More Be Less? The Depth-Breadth Dilemma in Teaching American History, 38
- Watkins, Christine. Gun Control: The Debate and Public Policy, 250
- Wentworth, Donald R., with Terry Anderson. Water, Water Everywhere, But Can We Drink It? Solving the Blue Planet's Water Problems of Overuse and Abuse, 337
- , with Mark C. Schug and John S. Morton. Who Worries About the Future of Chickens as a Species? Environmental Education from an Economics Perspective, 331
- West, George. Fort Hancock: A Bastion of America's Eastern Seaboard, 177
- West, Jean M., with Wynell Schamel. Robert E. Lee's Resignation from the U. S. Army, 108
- Western, Richard D., with Mark C. Schug. An Economic Perspective on Protecting the Environment, 329
- , with Mark C. Schug and Larry G. Enochs. Why Do Social Studies Teachers Use Textbooks? The Answer May Lie in Economic Theory, 97
- White, Charles S. Technology and Social Studies: An Introduction, 147
- , Where on the Web? A List of Websites, special pullout, March
- Wilson, Elizabeth K. A Trip to Historic Philadelphia on the Web, 170
- Yeager, Elizabeth Anne, with Frans H. Doppen and David Middleton. Now Is Your Time!: A Middle School History Unit, 207

